QUALITY POLICY

Management's Declaration

The Management has set the continuous improving of the customer's satisfaction as strategic target. For this purpose, customer types and their expressed or implied needs have been identified:

- Household cooking, essentially for following purposes:
  - As an additional product for household cooking, ensuring greater use flexibility (e.g. in different rooms, outdoors, etc.).
  - As the primary product for household cooking, serving as a cheaper alternative to kitchens or hobs.
- Cooking in campsites
- Professional cooking with specific products
- It is necessary that the product must comply with the directives/regulations and technical standards applicable in the country of destination. It has also defined the following targets as strategic:
- Introduce, maintain and ensure the effective operation of a quality management system within the Company that complies with the UNI EN ISO 9001 standard, and obtain and maintain the respective certification;
- Ensure compliance with requirements and the effectiveness of the quality management system through continuous improvements;
- Involve the organisation in ensuring the adequacy and application of the means previewed by the quality management system, also including an appropriate training and motivation process for all Company personnel;

Management defines the context in which the organisation operates, analyses risks and opportunities, and plans the actions that, compatibly with the available resources, it considers appropriate for achieving the company's targets and improvements.

In addition, targets relating to business processes are defined, using the process indicators defined for monitoring and improvement.

Parker is mindful of climate change and, in particular, its assessment as a strategic and operational risk. The goal is to reconcile customer satisfaction with sustainability. Parker is committed to monitoring how extreme weather events or new environmental regulations may impact supply continuity, product compliance and quality targets. Management seeks to implement effective solutions to reduce situations that may or could damage its resources and results.

The Management has appointed the Quality Manager to establish and maintain an effective quality management system, and in particular has delegated to him the authority and responsibility for preparing the operational means necessary to implement the Quality Policy defined by the Management.
